EVENTS CONSULTANT

Me in Four Words: Bubbly, Outdoorsy, Creative, Foodie

Call Me When: You want someone to be as excited about your event as you are

Charlie holds an Event & Business Diploma and excels in maintaining strong relationships with a portfolio of clients, identifying new opportunities for venue sourcing, and managing events. In this role, she is responsible for finding and securing the best venues for various events. Engaging with clients and discovering new venues adds a dynamic and exciting element to the work that Charlie loves.

A key principle Charlie adheres to is maintaining a tidy inbox, which ensures organization and efficiency. One of her proudest achievements was finding a unique venue for a client as a wild card. The space turned out to be a huge success, demonstrating her dedication & resourcefulness.

Colleagues often describe Charlie as helpful, reliable, and friendly. As her manager aptly puts it: "Charlie is an incredibly helpful team member, always going above and beyond to assist colleagues and ensure tasks are completed efficiently and effectively."

A good latte is what really kick-starts Charlie's day. Outside of work, she can often be found in local cafes or enjoying country walks with her French Bulldog, Lola.

A big fan of the show "Friends," Charlie also loves reading books by Colleen Hoover. Attending events like the Boardmasters Festival and various concerts.

If money were no object, Charlie would love to travel across America, the Caribbean, and Lapland—essentially the entire world. One of the most exciting places visited so far has been Australia, with its breathtaking sights and diverse landscapes.

After a busy day, Charlie winds down by cooking dinner & watching TV.
